3rd Update Guidance for Flight Schools

Greetings, Aviation Colleague. This email is being sent to individuals, businesses and airport owners/operators in Maryland that have inquired on the essential status of flight schools in MD during the State of Emergency.

For historical context, previous notices on essential business determination is on the email thread below.

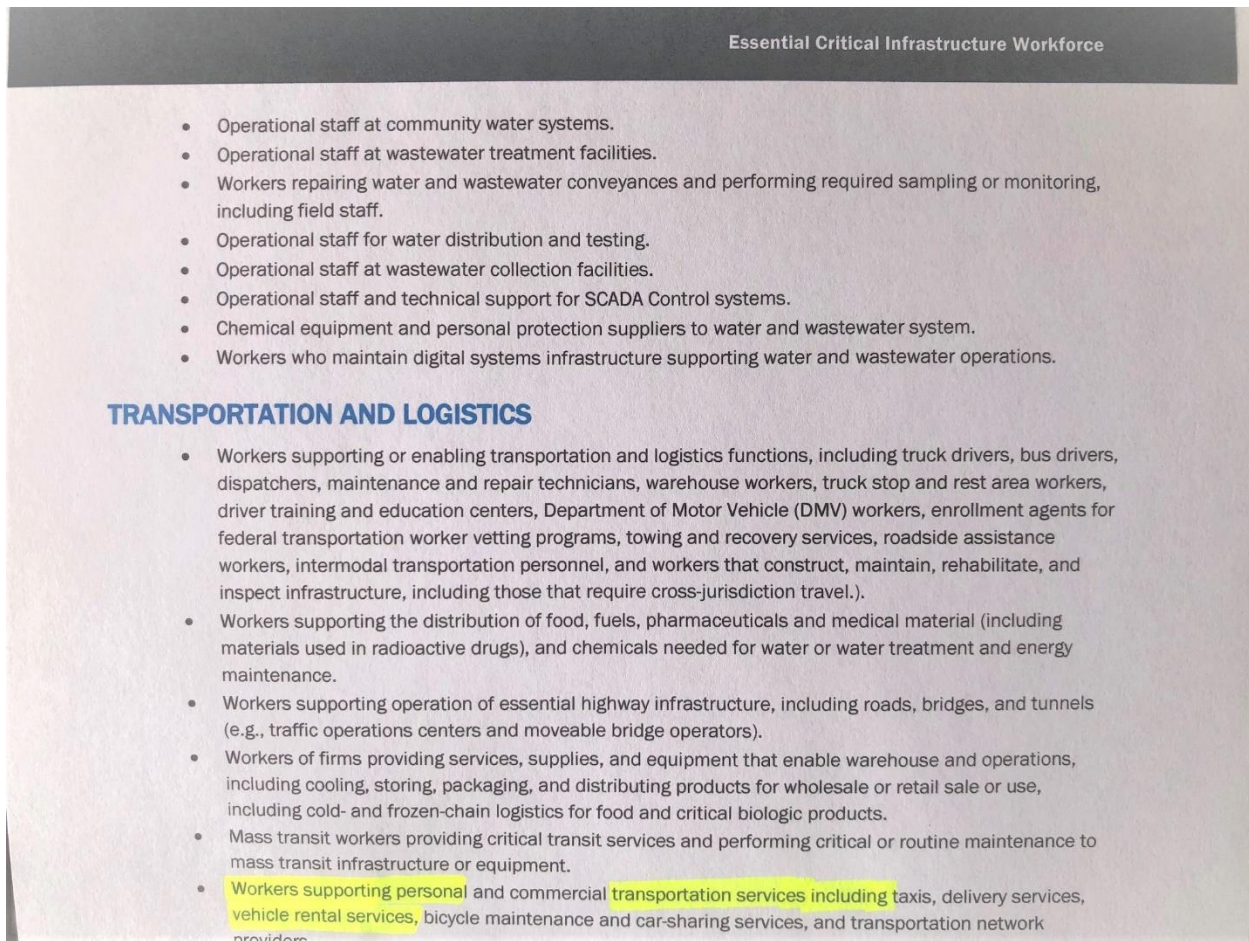

The April 17, 2020 CISA memo, page 13, 7th bullet from top, includes flight instructors, and by extension flight schools, as an "essential critical infrastructure workforce". With the Gov's March 30, 2020 EO for stay at home referencing the CISA listing of essential businesses, flight schools and flight instructors are accepted as essential businesses.

If in doubt of a business' essential status, the Gov's web site has legal interpretive guidance. Suggest reviewing interpretive guidance # COVID19-06 when non-essential status is unclear. In addition, recommend flight schools provide letters to employees to carry on their person IAW interpretive guidance # COVID19-08.
